“ Mr. Kaczor, as all of us neighborhood kids called him back in the day, was that kind of man...father, that we all wished we had, I don't believe I ever heard him raise his voice...except perhaps to laugh along with us after he finished telling one of his jokes, (which he always had ready). He was always willing to drive us or pick us up...no matter where we were or what time it was. I remember how we piled into the RAMBLER at night as he took us to get schnecks (bakery) that was being prepared for the next morning somewhere near Lincoln Avenue,,,,,and you know, it seemed like he actually liked being with us kids. He was a real man in the truest sense of the word...kind, loyal, protective, fun and loving, Yep, Mr, Kaczor was all those good things that women look for in a husband... children adore in a father and neighborhood kids wish they had, You were that wonderful ideal for me and I will never forget you, Rest In Peace, Mr. Kaczor and know that you were loved!
