“ God I miss you, not a day goes by that I don't think of you and wish you were still here! So glad, grateful, and will forever cherish the times we had, the impact you left on my life, and for always being my little side kick when I had to run around, miss you gramps, hope your looking down on us and we're making you proud, life isn't the same without you! Until we meet again, I love you! Love always,

Man how it feels like only yesterday you were in the garden watering my "tomatoe" plants and I came home from disc golfing stoned and wondered how water has only rain right around my plants and then clear as day you saying to me "I know them are not tomatoe plants" laughing and back to your awesome self. I still have a memory from being real lil and you taking us to the mall to get candy. You love so hard and rarely ever angry I mean almost never. You never let having your stoke stop you, you still found a way no matter how hot or cold you were always with us enjoying life. I apologize if over the time you been gone if I haven't made you proud I'm just finding my footing. I spent so much time with you and grams rip her soul, just when you thought you were gonna be in peace we come bury her by you lol she's nuts lol love her tho miss you grams. Watching TV with no sound taught me to read ppls lips which helped in life thank you for everything the skill knowledge the humbleness, happiness, how to enjoy life when sometimes the world all it seem to be and still you taught me it's not about material things or who you with it is about enjoying the world no one sees any more the stars the day nature and the beauty of what the world really is thank you for being my gramps and in my life I think life hasn't felt like you been gone cuz you live so hard still in my mind that your still here in my heart!! I love you forever and always,
