“ I worked with Chris for years at GMPS and she was one of the sweetest people I have ever know. That quick little smile was easy to get and had just a touch of a naughty to it. I'm sure the world's a little less sunny without Chris to brighten our day. Our favorite snack to share was "Snaps" licorice bites and we would often bring a bag to work to share. She spoke such fluent polish that I admired that she agreed to try to teach me a word every few weeks and she would laugh at how bad I pronounced them. I still use those few words and think of her fondly each time. My thoughts are with her family who she loved so much.

“ I don't even know where to begin ❤️ Chris was fun and sweet, kind and gentle. She was so warm and gracious and funny! When she laughed it made you laugh harder. She was my friend and the best part of my work day for many years. I will miss our "stories" and inside jokes.

She was easy to love and fun to be around. She was the best baker and always shared her recipes and her little tips.

Chris kept her lab coat pockets filled with those puffy red stripe mints that she'd toss on your desk after lunch or just whenever.

Swedish Fish were another favorite.

She cared about her holiday traditions and had such a love for her family. I'm so happy I had her in my life.

She was loved ❤️

My heart will forever be changed

“ I got to know Chris from work at the dermatologists. She was very easy to get to know and like, and I always looked forward to seeing her. She was fun to talk to, and she had a laugh that would make you laugh with her! She would entertain us with the telling of her weekend activities. I always wanted to know what she cooked or baked, as she was very good at both, and I drew inspiration from her. She even came up with festive weekend cocktails! Chris was down to earth and sweet and simply one of the nicest person I've ever known. She loved her family, and always gave everything her all. I regarded her highly and was proud to be her friend. I'm so sad she's gone.
