Many thanks are extended to her faithful neighbors, George and Martha Carrillo and their two sons. They invited her to all their family gatherings, brought her home cooked food and always remembered her birthday. Wow! if everyone could have such good people living next door. Their care and concern allowed mom to live in her own home.

Faye worked for thirty four years as a nursing assistant and then a Unit Secretary on a Medical floor for a local Medical Center. She was an avid shopper, using a wheelchair not for her but to carry her purchases and purse. She could shop for hours. She was full of fun, witty and her mind was sharp to the end. The weekend before she died, Amanda and Megan treated her to an afternoon out for a pedicure and dinner, she participated in a wedding by bringing the gifts to the altar and spoke at the wedding dinner.

Mom was a mother of four children, but we can truthfully say that she was a mother to many. She taught her children from early on to make their beds, do house chores, cook, clean, pray, and to always help others. She and dad always did things together and over the years they helped as child care providers, volunteered cooks for the St. Bens program, provided rides for hospital employees in winter storms. Through the years, the number of friends grew because of their faithfulness to each other and willingness to be of help to others. They faced life's struggles together with Gods help, by prayer and the rosary.

“ Aunt Faye came into my family's life when Dan and I were married. However, I knew Faye years before I knew Dan when she and I worked at St. Luke's Hospital, as it was known then. She has always been kind, loving and generous to everyone who crossed her path. Although, over the past several years, we had not seen her as often as we would have liked, she was always in our thoughts. It was a thrill when she came to both of our 70th birthdays because we know that she was not always feeling up to pare. Dan, I and the family send our sincere thoughts and sympathy to her children and their families. God Bless you all.

“ Today is Friday, October 9th, missing Faye coming for her noon hair appointment.

She would walk in stop and say her hello's at each dresserette - asking the gals how there were. She'd finally reach my station. Setting down her seasonal Vera Bradley bag, carefully removing her hearing aides then off to the washbowl. She had the routine down. I will miss our weekly chats, her radiant smile and cheerful style. Thanks for all the wonderful memories ❤️ - Sue Cavallier “ Faye, Judy and David and rest of family and my mother Connie and me have spent every Christmas together for about 40 years. Faye was a very special person, very loving, a wonderful mother, grandmother and great grandmother to her entire family. In addition to her extended family, like my mother and me. We were included in many family celebrations, like this Fourth of July Photo of Faye and me (Janice Babcock). Faye will be greatly missed by all of us, including her extended family.

“ Faye was more than a friend, she was an angel that came into my life some 40 years ago. She had a never ending ability to love and showed that love daily to my daughters and me. Norb and Faye are family to me. They helped me for years with caring for my girls when my husband died so I could work. Five days a week we ate dinner together as Norbie loved to cook. I’m first learning now that when I said “no TV after school”, Grandma Faye would let them watch a show and say “Don’t tell your mom.” Anything for my girls. You meet all kinds of people throughout your life with many coming and going but for me meeting Faye and Norbie 40 years ago was life changing. It has been my honor to know and love you and I will cherish the memories we had together for as long as I live. Until we meet again.....

Love you Faye.
