“ You weren’t just my brother-in-law. You became someone we trusted, felt safe with & without even trying you changed our life. Losing you doesn’t seem real & certainly doesn’t feel fair. There are many moments in the day I still expect to see the phone ring & see your name pop up like nothing ever changed. There’s an empty feeling without you on the holidays & they will never be the same. You really loved our family in a way that was without conditions. Excepting us as we did you, even with all our flaws. You didn’t have to be loud to be heard & you didn’t have to try to be kind. You just were. I will never stop being grateful for that....
Oh & Every cliché about loss turned out to be true! There really is a hole that can’t be filled. Life is split into before and after. Time will heal all wounds, (No it just taught me how to live around the painful wounds) Hmmmm..so true. . All of these sayings exist & are true because they really are what they say. I could list 20 more but I won’t. Because nothings gonna change that we are all living every single one of them.

“ Pop's I can't believe it's been a week since you left us.it sure has been a rough one. Everybody (when they're young) thinks 81 is a long enough life, you proved us all wrong. 81 is not long enough. You truly enjoyed life. Every day might not have always been smiles and sunshine but you seemed roll with the punches. I will miss our sports talks and chats of memories from the old days. I very happy that you got saved and are in the presence of God now. I love ya Pop's and look forward to seeing you again in heaven. God bess.
