“ Grandpa was an easygoing person to his family who got easily disturbed by injustice, whether to him, family, or something upsetting he saw on the news. Many do not get to meet people like our grandfather, but we have been privileged to spend most of our time with him. We always lived close by or with him as a big family and it shows just how close the immediate family is to each other. We come together for everything and find ways through the hardest circumstances and grandpa knew better than us all how hard it is to overcome obstacles thrown our way. What a fighter he was and it seemed as though he used humor to get through the hardest of things he faced. That's something we can learn from him. Humor is a powerful tool to loosen up a stressful situation and look forward to overcoming it.

I will surely miss him. He may be gone but never forgotten. The times we had together and his impact on my life will live on forever as i follow my own path. I believe i can do so with the tools he offered me as well as my father and other family has offered me.

Missing you grandpa.

Larryboy you were a great caregiver to grandpa and did so much for him everyday! Walking miles for medicines for him and to the store for him and staying up all night to be sure to make breakfast for him each day for years and he really appreciated it too you were awesome!

“ Leslie (daughter-in-law)

Kenneth was a good father-in-law, he would say it as he saw it and didn't settle for any less. A bit difficult at times but funny, he'd have you laughing in an instant. He didn't take no crap from no one either. But he was sincere in a lot of ways too and usually meant well mostly. He really loved his companion dog Snookie and his great grand children would always make him smile. Never a dull moment with him and appreciated everything you did for him and would always say thank you if he really enjoyed something. He really liked his wrestling on tv each week and Brewers and Packer games too. He will be missed being around.

“ My grandfather was a good man. Very funny and always had great jokes to tell. Very strong human being that I've known. Was known if his stubbornness but it served it's purpose. I love and miss him. I love you grandpa you will always be in my heart. You were a really kind loving caring grandfather to my 1 year old daughter Sereyna Winter-Rose. She will love you and have your best memories. RIP
