Stopping by Woods on a Snowy Evening

By Robert Frost

Whose woods these are I think I know

His house is in the village, though;

He will not see me stopping here

To watch his woods fill up with snow.

My little horse must think it queer
To stop without a farmhouse near
Between the woods and frozen lake
The darkest evening of the year.

He gives his harness bells a shake
To ask if there is some mistake.
The only other sound's the sweep
Of easy wind and downy flake.

The woods are lovely, dark, and deep,
But I have promises to keep,
And miles to go before I sleep.
And miles to go before I sleep.

“ I last saw Marja about 35 years ago - I believe it was at her wedding. But I remember her so well as a generous, kind, warm hearted woman. We worked together at The Heil Company and spent many a Friday and Saturday night at Victors on VanBuren during the 70's. I remember how excited she was to buy that gold Toyota, I remember her parents and that house on 12th(I think) street - it was a second home to me. Those are all very happy memories I treasure always. The world has lost a beautiful soul.
