

Ricardo Miguel Cruz Malacara

May 22, 2019

Met with his grandpa Antonio Cruz on May 22, 2019 at the age of 21 years. He is survived by his son Antonio; wife Jennifer; brother Junior; sisters Jelly and Goldi "Lexi" and baby brother Zeek. Ricardo is also survived by his mother Iris and stepfather Ragu. He is further survived by other family and friends.

Ricardo was known as a "never say no" type of person, always putting others before himself. He was always smiling and happy. Ricardo would never leave home without a plate of food, as his siblings would often call him the "garbage disposal."

We will miss our Ricky.

“ I've been putting this off for ever now but something broke me to finally do this. He was my best friend my favorite cousin I knew I could tell him anything because he would always be there for me I miss it so much I miss how we used to plan you moving to Philly and me moving in with you your death brought me so much sadness and it's starting to hit harder now than ever before I love you and I miss you ☐💕 I'm gonna miss us always doing something stupid and getting in trouble for it I'm gonna miss hearing your laugh your voice your presence. I'm trying to stay strong but I can't it's so hard I wish you were still here.

“ Ricky, I'm sitting in my Spanish class rn working on an ofrenda for you, I'm looking through these pictures and I literally started crying. I miss you more than you probably k, I really shouldn't be making this for you, you should be here telling how dumb it is and what I should and shouldn't put on it. I love you and rn I can't talk about you being gone. I still talk like ur still alive but it's always in the back of my mind that ur not. Putting it on here makes it feel more real.

“ I keep remembering how you were such a jerk to me and I'd always go crying to mom to make be nicer to me, I remember the time you cut out a picture of the Pillsbury dough boy and kept saying that its me and then you hung it up where I couldn't reach it, so few days after, you were at school and I just got fed up at looking at it, so I got a chair and climbed up and took it down. I was hoping you wouldn't notice when you got home but like always you went to the kitchen right way to get food and you noticed right away, then you looked at like you seriously took it down, then you told everyone and I was so embarrassed. And at that you cut a whole new one out and I just left it there for months until mom yelled at you made you take it down, but from that day on you called me Pillsbury dough boy and all I wanted was for you to stop calling me that and now I'll do anything to hear it come out of your mouth again. I love you and will miss you big brother.

“ I remember when you lived in Philly & I was pregnant. I wanted you to be with me the day of my baby shower & for the day I gave birth & kept crying because you were my brother and I needed you by my side. I thought you weren't going to make it but you kept promising you would. You were going to be the godfather to my child. I hugged you & cried, I was so happy. I made you walk with me at the park to get the labor going & you did because you were always there for me. My baby girl grew up calling you tio. She loves you so much. You were her favorite uncle & always will be. I love you & thank you for always being the brother I never got to have.

“ I still think about the day we went to the chinese buffet when we were younger & you got in trouble for almost choking on your food for laughing soo hard. I had gotten up to go use the restroom & you thought I went to get more food. You went to go get some dessert & started talking to this girl you thought was me making fun of her just goofing off then she turned around & you realized it wasn't me😭 We laughed soo hard & kept cracking jokes at the table then titi yoly yelled at you for almost choking 😭 I miss those days☐💔😭 I Miss you my Ricky my partner in crime. Me & you were the closest ones when we were younger i loved going over your house & loved it more when you came over cuz we definitely had way more fun because you got away with more things ☐ You will always be my angel😭 Come visit me in my dreams if you can 😭 I miss you!

“ When you quietly watched t.v. at the age of 4 and seen a black man with his son you jumped up and ran to me excited yelling very loud saying "Mom, Mom I seen chocolate people!" I laughed till it hurt and you still trying to get your point across "Mommy foreal come look at the chocolate people" my son you were too cute, innocent, and so full of happiness!!

We laughed at your answers to Jelly's school project that may have seamed very professional in your head...and once you read it out loud you knew they were not! We laughed hard....and as always you ask to take the left overs for your midnight 3rd snack..LSH (laughing so hard) and as if no one would be able to understand you...you asked me for your plate to go in your broken down spanish...always leaving us with hilarious memories to share.*
