“ JOHN FREDA ; Saying Not a good-bye but I will hold your wishes to the day I am not here physically. Our lives weren't always connected like normal families; but what is normal. What saddens me the most is all the things you did for people that just disrespected you. Todd, you were a a bad ass, who taught me; that no matter what be yourself. Your pain was always my pain as I know growing-up you were treated as the black sheep. Without Dad, you the one who protected the sheep; myself, babez and mom. You protection was heartfelt and knowing you where around put our minds at ease. So many many feared,your bear like hands because they knew you could throw down! Our lives were changed when Gracie went down. I saw you fading and now your gone but your memories live and that brotherly bond is unbreakable even with death.Todd,my past words I regret so ask for your forgiveness. Life is unpredictable,cruel, evil and fake individuals but you brought the true meaning of life. That be yourself at all cost,didn't care or fuss just giving all that you had till the very end. I have one wish that we met again. I know you passed painfully and alone, I sorry; I wasn't there to ease your pain. You will be coming back to me in ash form so you do have a home. Love your Little Big brother John/Realforsure

“ Todd lived quite an interesting life. He shared with me many stories about his younger years and all the trouble he would find himself in. Usually followed up with a laugh and a fist bump. Unfortunately, I only got to know Todd this past year, and that year was quite a season for him.

In spite of his past, Todd had a good heart. He thought that treating people right and fairly meant more than anything. I'll always appreciate that about him. You are missed Todd. Take care friend.
